

Vistara Interiors – Website Redesign Case Study

Project Overview

Vistara Interiors is an interior design company specializing in luxury villa interiors, residential spaces, and personalized design solutions. The objective of this project was to redesign the company's website to create a modern, visually appealing, and conversion-focused experience that effectively showcases services and encourages potential clients to book consultations. The redesign focuses on improving user engagement, trust, and lead generation through a clean and structured interface.

Problem Statement

Many local interior design websites struggle with:

- Unclear service presentation
- Weak calls-to-action
- Poor content hierarchy
- Lack of trust-building elements
- Complicated inquiry processes

These issues often result in visitors leaving the website without contacting the business. The challenge was to create a website that clearly communicates Vistara's expertise while guiding users toward consultation booking and project inquiries.

Target Users

Primary Users

- Homeowners planning villa or home interior projects
- Families building or renovating luxury residences
- Property owners seeking professional interior consultation

Secondary Users

- Real estate investors
- Premium residential developers
- Individuals looking for personalized design services

User Goals

- Explore interior design services
- View project examples and expertise
- Understand the design process
- Contact the company easily
- Schedule a consultation

Pages Designed

1. Homepage

The homepage introduces Vistara Interiors through a strong hero section, highlights core services, showcases featured projects, explains the design process, and includes consultation-focused call-to-action sections.

2. Service Detail Page

The service page focuses on Luxury Villa Interiors, providing detailed information about the service offering, benefits, project showcases, and the overall design process.

3. Contact / Lead Generation Page

The contact page provides multiple communication channels, FAQs, and a lead capture form designed to reduce friction and encourage inquiries.

UX Design Decisions

Clear Visual Hierarchy

Large headings, structured content sections, and generous spacing were used to improve readability and help users quickly understand the company's offerings.

Conversion-Focused Call-to-Actions

Primary CTA buttons such as "Book Consultation", "Schedule a Free Call", and "Talk to Our Designers" were strategically placed throughout the website to encourage user action.

Trust Building Through Portfolio Content

Featured villa projects, design process explanations, and professional imagery help establish credibility and showcase expertise.

Simplified Contact Process

The inquiry form collects only essential information, reducing effort for users while generating qualified leads for the business.

Consistent Navigation

A clear navigation structure including Home, Services, Projects, About, and Contact helps users move easily across the website.

Conversion Optimization Strategy

The redesign was created with business outcomes in mind:

- Strong value proposition in the hero section
- Multiple consultation-focused CTAs
- Project showcases to build trust
- Clear explanation of the design process
- Accessible contact information
- Lead generation form integrated into key pages

These elements work together to improve visitor confidence and increase consultation inquiries.

Visual Design Approach

Color Palette

A warm and sophisticated color scheme was selected to reflect elegance, luxury, and professionalism, aligning with the interior design industry.

Typography

Modern, readable typography was used to create a premium aesthetic while maintaining accessibility.

Layout

A clean, spacious layout with balanced visual hierarchy ensures users can easily scan content and focus on key actions.

Tools Used

- Figma

- Google Fonts
- Coolors

Outcome

The redesigned Vistara Interiors website provides a more professional and user-friendly experience while supporting the company's business goals. Through improved content hierarchy, trust-building elements, and conversion-focused design decisions, the website helps potential clients understand the brand, explore services, and confidently book consultations.
